Happy New Year everyone and welcome to the first edition of our new weekly newsletter! Each week, I will bring you updates on school life, dates for your diary and share our fantastic achievements and weekly winners.

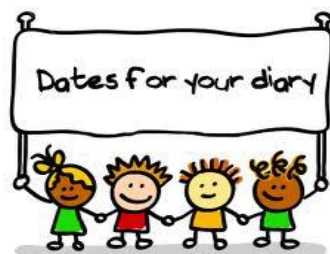

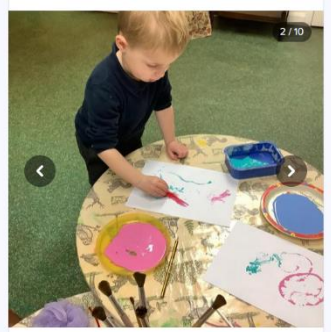

It's been a very different start to the term, especially as I've been in an office instead of a classroom! However, it's been great to see school-life from a different perspective and it's just made me even prouder of this wonderful little school, our incredible children and exceptional staff. In particular, I've been incredibly proud of how kind our children are in school. Especially our older children. They really look after the younger children, make sure they are happy and safe and enjoy helping them when they might need it.

Despite only being back for 3 days this week, the staff and children have quickly got back into the swing of things and the school has been buzzing with hard-working children. In assembly time, we have been learning about the British Values. The British Values underpin what it is to be a citizen in a modern and diverse Britain and they are Democracy, Rule of Law, Mutual Respect and Tolerance and Individual Liberty. It's been really interesting to see how the children have interpreted these values and their understanding of how different life in Britain would be without them.

Over the next term, we will be learning more about the British values and also exploring our school and character values. There has been a separate update about the school and character values on Class Dojo and our School Website.

Class One pupils have been learning about the artist Vincent Van Gogh this week and have been using different textiles to make patterns inspired by his famous art work 'Starry Night.'

Class 3 have designed and made healthy sandwiches for their DT projects.
