Behaviour and Welfare Policy

Our Mission Statement

We are a partnership between school, home and the community. We recognise through the respect we have for each other that every one of us is unique, with special talents. We let our light shine by showing respect for one another and engaging in our school community.

Sunnybrow Primary School: A place where every child has the chance to shine!

Introduction

At Sunnybrow Primary School we promote and nurture respectful relationships through collective values and mutual respect, supported by a restorative approach that aims to build social capital and create a strong sense of belonging, within the context of a positive whole school 'family' atmosphere.

We recognise that it is the quality of the relationship between staff and pupils that is key to promoting good behaviour and that a positive and nurturing atmosphere is necessary for effective teaching and learning to take place.

This policy statement refers to all children who attend Sunnybrow Primary School irrespective of gender, disability, ethnicity, social, cultural or religious background. This school has high expectations of all pupils and we acknowledge our legal duties under the Equality Act 2010 in respect of safeguarding and in respect of pupils with SEND.

Rationale

The underlying purpose for considering pupil's behaviour is to further the aim of our school mission statement.

By rewarding, promoting and displaying positive and respectful behaviour, pupils and staff can work towards this aim at all times. Through challenging and intervening when a pupil behaves inappropriately, we aim to assist children to choose the correct behaviour in the future and restore relationships effectively. In order to do this, our school adopts restorative approaches when resolving conflict. We have a 'no shouting' policy. We have high expectations of everyone within school and treat all pupils and adults equally.

The drawing up of this policy gives school staff a clear statutory authority, as specified in Section 91 of Education and Inspectors Act 2006.

Values

Strategies and Implementation

The Zones of Regulation

The Zones of Regulation® is a framework for teaching children strategies for emotional and sensory self-management. The zones help children identify how they are feeling in the moment according to their emotions and level of alertness, as well as guide them to strategies to support regulation. There are four colours or 'Zones' blue, green, yellow and red.

The Zones of Regulation framework is implemented throughout school as part of our PSHE & RSE curriculum offer. In EYFS, children learn to identify different feelings, the coloured zones the feelings are in and the expected and unexpected behaviours connected to these feelings. From Year 1 onwards, children are supported to develop a 'toolkit' of strategies for dealing with their comfortable and uncomfortable feelings. There are 'zones' charts in every classroom, so children can check-in and show a member of staff how they are feeling. There are also 'toolkit' resources available, which staff can guide children towards to help them with their self-regulation. Our staff know our children really well and are skilled at intervening early and putting in place support to enable children to utilise strategies for their emotional and sensory self-management.

Restorative Approaches

A restorative model in school focuses on the impact on relationships and how they can be successfully restored and maintained.

The emphasis is on reparation and reintegration and encourages children to express and listen to how their actions have affected others, working together to find solutions. It promotes effective conflict resolution skills, providing children with a forum to 'have their say and be heard.'

The following questions are asked to those who have been affected which focus on resolving the situation and all staff use these:

1. What happened?
2. What were you thinking?
3. What were you feeling?
4. Who has been affected?
5. What needs to happen/what do you need to do now to move forwards?

Positivity promotes respectful relationships

We celebrate good work, good behaviour, good attitudes and individual effort at Sunnybrow Primary School.

Reward systems are in place across the school - these differ depending on the age and abilities of the children in each class and the agreed classroom charters. The underlying principles of the reward systems are however, the same.

Some of the ways we reward children are:

- Class Dojo points and related certificates
- Stickers
- Stamps
- Verbal praise and feedback by all members of staff
- Positive comments in children's books
- Visiting the Headteacher with 'good work' and good news
- Headteacher stickers
- Presentation of awards received outside school
- Celebration Assembly - weekly
- Citizen of the week award, linked to our character values
- Informing parents through meetings, Home/School books, Dojo messenger or verbal feedback

- Smiley faces
- Class Rewards

Re-Engaging

At Sunnybrow Primary School, staff are calm and non-judgemental, meaning that they will not jump to conclusions regarding a behaviour that a child may be displaying.

Staff strive to work together with the child and their families to find a solution to negative behaviours, enabling the child to return to a place of good emotional wellbeing, and re-engage with their learning.

Additional Support

When a child appears to be off-task in class on several occasions, or appears to be struggling socially or emotionally over a period of time, additional support may be required.

To ensure that the most appropriate support is accessed, the SEMH referral pathway should be followed.

An initial meeting may be required and may involve parents, relevant staff, SENCO, Parent Support Advisor, and the Head Teacher (or Assistant Head in her absence) coming together and discussing the needs of the child. Prior to the meeting, the child's views will also have been gathered.

Actions taken may include: reasonable adjustments within the classroom (seating position, small group working, etc.), access to in-school interventions, assignment of a key adult, referrals to outside agencies (EWEL Team, Educational Psychology, etc.).

A support plan would then be created to monitor the emotional wellbeing of the child, using a half termly 'plan, do review' cycle.

Supporting pupils with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND)

Expectations for managing behaviour of pupils with SEND:

For pupils with SEND their behaviour is often a form of communication and the meaning behind this communication might not always be clear. Pupils who are showing negative behaviours might find it difficult to communicate their needs or feelings in a calmer or clearer way. It might be because they are feeling anxious and are seeking reassurance. It is important that for all pupils, we look at their behaviour as part of them and something that we can help them understand and manage. We must remove all obstacles to good behaviour and provide support for all pupils to meet expectations.

Incidents of more serious unexpected behaviour

For the majority of children in school, the actions outlined above work very well. However, for a very small minority of children who may exhibit more serious unexpected behaviours, there needs to be consequences for their actions that go beyond these measures. The following sanctions will be imposed for more serious behaviours.

Persistent low-level disruption in lessons or around school	Pupils will be given a: -reminder -warning -red dojo -Parents will be sent a Class Dojo message
Persistent low-level inappropriate behaviour at break times	Pupils will be asked to spend reflection time on the reflection bench (Time out) and a restorative conversation will be held between the child and a member of staff.
Consistent inappropriate behaviour at lunchtime	A period of lunchtimes at home or internal lunchtime exclusion. Parents will be notified via phone call/invited in for a meeting.

Refusing to line up and come back in to school after break times	The following break time will be missed. Parents will be notified via Class Dojo Message or phone call.
Physical harm	A meeting with parents and an exclusion depending on the level of harm caused. This may be internal or external.
Being rude to staff	Initial restorative conversation but if this persists there will be a lunchtime detention. Parents will be notified via Class dojo message or phone call.
Failure to comply	Usual school sanctions as detailed in this policy
Leaving school premises	After school detention in the first instance and if it happens again there will be a meeting with parents
Using inappropriate language (includes swearing, racist language, homophobic language and issuing threats)	Lunchtime detention, parents will be informed and a restorative conversation will be held between the perpetrator and victim. Incidents will be recorded on our bullying incident log.
Sexualised behaviour (harassment & violence) including, online behaviour, name calling, unwanted physical touching of a sexual nature, (including bottoms) and up-skirting.	A meeting with parents to discuss the incident and agree a plan moving forward to ensure all parties are kept safe. A restorative conversation between the perpetrator and the victim. Consequences will be agreed with children and their families.
Persistent lunchtime detentions	A child and their parents will be invited into a meeting with the Headteacher, Class Teacher and PSA to put in place a positive behaviour plan.

Exclusions

Exclusion is the most extreme measure the school can take and is only involved where all other measures have failed or in extremely serious instances.

Procedures following a Fixed Term Exclusion

- ◆ Exclusions up to 5 consecutive days - work should be set and marked by the school. During this period the parents of the excluded pupil must ensure that their child is not found in a public place during normal school hours without reasonable justification. Parents may be subject to a Fixed Penalty Notice if they fail to do this.
- ◆ Exclusions for 6 consecutive days or longer - the school has a duty to arrange suitable full-time educational provision from and including the 6th day of the exclusion. (Schools need to explain their agreed arrangements to Governors.)

Procedures following a Permanent Exclusion

- ◆ It is the responsibility of the school during the first 5 days of a permanent exclusion to ensure that work is sent home for the pupil to complete. During these initial 5 days of exclusion the parents of the excluded pupil must ensure that their child is not found in a public place during normal school hours without reasonable justification. Parents may be subject to a Fixed Penalty Notice if they fail to do this.
- ◆ From the 6th day of a permanent exclusion the Local Authority (LA) is statutorily responsible for ensuring that suitable full-time education is provided. In cases where the pupil lives in a different LA from the school, this will be the pupil's home LA

Keeping children safe: Physical Restraint

There are some occasions where pupils might put themselves in dangerous situations. At Sunnybrow Primary School we will only use physical restraint when we believe that there are good grounds for believing that the pupil is placing him/herself or other people in immediate danger.

What is reasonable force?

The term 'reasonable force' covers the broad range of actions used by most teachers at some point in their career that involve a degree of physical contact with pupils.

Force is usually used either to control or restrain. This can range from guiding a pupil to safety by the arm through to more extreme circumstances such as breaking up a fight or where a student needs to be restrained to prevent violence or injury.

'Reasonable in the circumstances' means using no more force than is needed.

As mentioned above, schools generally use force to control pupils and to restrain them. Control means either passive physical contact, such as standing between pupils or blocking a pupil's path, or active physical contact such as leading a pupil by the arm out of a classroom.

Restraint means to hold back physically or to bring a pupil under control. It is typically used in more extreme circumstances, for example when two pupils are fighting and refuse to separate without physical intervention.

School staff should always try to avoid acting in a way that might cause injury, but in extreme cases it may not always be possible to avoid injuring the pupil.

Who can use reasonable force?

All members of school staff have a legal power to use reasonable force. This power applies to any member of staff at the school. It can also apply to people whom the head teacher has temporarily put in charge of pupils such as unpaid volunteers or parents accompanying students on a school organised visit.

When can reasonable force be used?

Reasonable force can be used to prevent pupils from hurting themselves or others, from damaging property, or from causing disorder. In a school, force is used for two main purposes – to control pupils or to restrain them.

The decision on whether or not to physically intervene is down to the professional judgement of the staff member concerned and should always depend on the individual circumstances.

Bullying

Please see our 'Anti-Bullying Policy'.

Review

This policy will be reviewed annually by the Head Teacher and Deputy Head Teacher.
